

Poynt Apps Marketplace FAQs

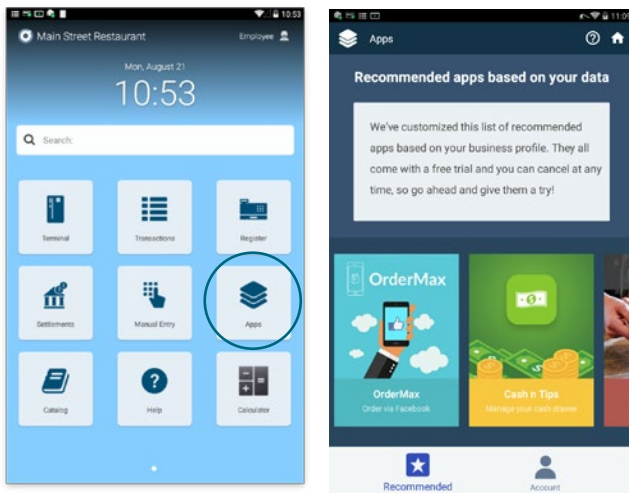

What is the Poynt Apps Marketplace?

The Apps Marketplace is a one-stop shop of applications designed to enable businesses to be more efficient. Think of it like the app store on your mobile phone. The best part is the list of apps are customized based on the business profiles, so the most relevant apps will always appear first.

Where do I go to access the App Store?

Simply locate the Apps call-out located on the device's home screen. There you'll be shown the list of recommended apps to select, just swipe to find the one you wish to try.

To download, select the app you want. It'll prompt a screen that list the app features, a brief description, and list where to access the free trial (if applicable) or the pricing plans.

Which apps are available right now?

Currently, Poynt has released apps through the store that customers can already begin to download. They cover a wide range of categories, such as reporting and employee management, and specific verticals. Here are the seven available right now:

- Homebase*
- Poynt HQ
- TruRating
- Aptizer
- Cash & Tips
- Data Sync
- OrderMax

For more information about the specific apps, check out our Smart Terminal Apps Guide.

How much do these apps cost?

All apps come with free trial periods, giving the customer ample time to decide if it is right for their business. Afterwards, certain apps will require the user to pay a monthly fee. The amount will vary from app to app and will be displayed during the downloading process.

What is the benefit to Elavon in pitching these apps?

Apps create a unique sales advantage within the Poynt terminal. Prospective businesses would be buying based off of innovation and utility. Customers are more willing to continue their business when they are using more Elavon services.

Will other apps be made available for Poynt?

More applications will be made available as the business needs present themselves. New apps will be communicated out when they happen.
